

Reasonable Adjustment Digital Flag and Consent Form

Making small changes to help you

Easy read

Glossary

There are some words in this Easy Read which might be difficult to understand.

We have explained these words below.

Reasonable Adjustments: Small changes to make health and social care appointments easier for you.

Health and social care services: NHS and support services that keep you well.

Appointment: A meeting at a certain time.

Patient record: When you visit an NHS or social care service, information about you and the care you receive is saved in your patient record.

Your patient record is on a computer.

Digital: On the computer.

What is a Reasonable Adjustment?

Sometimes it is difficult for people who have disabilities to use health and social care services.

Small changes can be made to health and social care appointments, or staying in hospital.

These small changes are called Reasonable Adjustments.

What is the Reasonable Adjustment Digital Flag?

The Digital Flag is a note on a patient record.

It tells staff that you have Reasonable Adjustments.

If you say "YES" your Reasonable Adjustments will be put on the computer.

They will be kept safe.

Some health and social care staff are allowed to read your patient record.

These people will read your Reasonable Adjustments.

What Reasonable Adjustments will help you?

Which Reasonable Adjustments will help you?

There are some examples on the next pages of this booklet to help you with your answers.

You can talk about Reasonable Adjustments with:

- Staff at your GP surgery
- Your family
- The people who support you
- Health and social care professionals

Information for Supporters

The Equality Act 2010 states that adjustments must only be made if it's reasonable to do so. This depends on many things such as the size of the organisation or setting you are accessing, and the cost of making the changes.

Not all reasonable adjustments will be available everywhere – not every setting will have a hoist, for example.

Therefore, it's worth managing the expectations of the person you are supporting.

Please discuss which reasonable adjustments can be implemented at the locations relevant to the person you support.
