

Seen and Be Heard Study

Children and young people advisory group

We are doing a research study

- To try to improve cancer care for children and young people with or without a learning disability or autism
- We will ask children and young people, parents and staff about what it is like being in hospital and will look at what happens during care

Can you help us?

We are looking for children and young people with experience of having cancer care to be in a small group to help us make decisions, about our research.

We can offer support to make sure that everyone who wants to take part can be included

Please discuss with your parent/carer whether you want to be involved

How the group will work

- We will meet up to 6 times a year – you can choose how much you attend
- The meetings will last about 1½ hours
- The meetings will mostly be online by video call
- You can have someone to help you in the meeting (like a parent)
- Some meetings might be in person at Great Ormond Street Hospital, London
- If we need your help in between meetings we might email or phone you

Hi

Being in the group:

- We will give you a £20 shopping thank you voucher for helping us in each meeting
- We will pay for any travel if we meet in person

If interested, please ask your parent or carer to complete our online form:
